The NW Ohio Section of the American Planning Association of Ohio (APA Ohio) is pleased to have Mr. Rick Stein, AICP of the Urban Decision Group, LLC in for an education dinner meeting. Attendees will learn will learn how changes in transportation and technology (robotics/AI/autonomous vehicles, etc.) are going to fundamentally change historic land use and transportation assumptions. These changes will impact everything from street and neighborhood design to zoning. Further, these changes will impact the workforce and employers, which presents social and economic equity challenges. Rick Stein, AICP (Principal and Owner of Urban Decision Group) will lead a discussion that encourages the attendees to contemplate what these changes might mean for them and the communities they plan for. The event is FREE, however our space is limited to the first 50 people that RSVP to the email listed below. The event has been submitted for 2.0 hours of AICP credit.

The Event is Free, However Please RSVP only if you plan to attend, as our space limits us to only 50 people.
